Operation KUDOS is an educational event to help build resiliency in military youth by engaging them in activities that simulate the pre-deployment experience. Youth will report to the DCC for a mission brief and process through the deployment line where dog tags, shirts and deployment bags will be issued. They will then be bussed to their deployed location where they will visit “zones” (child-friendly activities & static displays; lunch provided). The event concludes with a “homecoming” at Commando Hangar, welcomed by parents.
